

A good architect needs one of these to visualize your home.

Let's face it. We all have different tastes. Different needs. Different expectations when it comes to building a new home. Or remodeling an existing one.

Which is why, it's important to find an architect who not only has a good eye for design—a given—but also something that's more rare: a good ear to hear what sets you apart from the other clients. So you'll get a design that works specifically for you.

That's our ongoing goal at Schwanke Architecture. We work as a team with clients, listening and exploring ideas to create customized solutions. And from what clients have said, our hearing has never been better.

A good architect has been around the block a few times.

It's not unusual to see an architect move from one house to another in a neighborhood.

A homeowner will recommend the architect to a friend who will do the same for another friend. In fact, word of mouth is one of the most common ways people find an architect to remodel a home.

That's been the case with Schwanke Architecture. In some areas, we've had two or more projects on the same block, providing integrated solutions that enhance a home and neighborhood.

But don't just take our word for it. Give us a call and read what our clients have said. And be the first on your block to get the word out.
